

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES IN THE LEADING RESORTS

An Unusually Lively and Enjoyable Season Is Anticipated at Those Charming Spots Where Persons of Fashion and Means While Away the Weeks of the Torrid Term.

metgor, trimmed with the duchess and rose point lace which had adorned the wedding gown of her mother. She wore a tulle veil fastened with orange blossoms and carried a shower of bride roses, lilies-of-the-valley and white orchids. Miss Marie Cropsey attended as maid of honor in a gown of pale yellow crepe de chine, trimmed with Chantilly lace, and carried a basket of yellow blossoms. Miss Adeline Kiep and Miss Florence G. Seaman acted as bridesmaids, dressed in gold color crepe de chine and Chantilly and carried lavender sweetpeas. The little flower girl, Miss Grace Banahoff, wore a frock of white lace and a yellow sash and carried a basket of yellow blossoms. Mrs. Bass was attired in marquis lace.

Mr. Kiep, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Andrew Kiep, of 60 Hart street, has as best man his brother, Walter H. Bass. The ushers were Dr. Foster Murray, Frank Oates, Frank Moore and Robert Wilson.

Mr. Kiep was graduated from Cornell in 1910 and is a member of the Crescent and University clubs. The bride was graduated from the Brooklyn Heights Seminary in 1911. When they return from their wedding trip they will live at 217 5th st., Bay Ridge.

Miss Isabel Geraldine Winchell will be married to James Weir Hawkins on Saturday evening, June 27, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Grant R. Pitbladdo, 601 Ocean av. The Rev. Dr. John E. Lloyd will perform the ceremony, to which only relatives and a few intimate friends have been invited. It is to be followed by a small reception.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Irene Washburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Van Ness Washburn, to Gerould Taylor Lane, of Great Barrington, Mass. The Washburn country home is at Great Barrington.

The engagement is announced of Miss Frances Briggs Leonard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Leonard, of New Rochelle, but formerly of this borough, and Edmund Victor Morrow, of 129 Columbia Heights.

A home wedding of Tuesday evening will be that of Miss Edna L. Stoll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Stoll, of 69 Eastern Parkway, and Walter P. Sauer, son of Theodore Sauer, of 24 Riverside Drive. The Rev. Hugo Hoffman, of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, is to officiate. The bride will be attended by a matron of honor, Mrs. Frederick Wolf, and two bridesmaids, Miss Catherine Johnson and Miss Elsie Donner.

Charles P. Sauer, a cousin of the bridegroom, is to be the best man, and Robert Schur and Carl Schur, of Manhattan, are to serve as ushers.

The bride is the contralto soloist at the Clinton Avenue Congregational Church.

An out-of-town wedding on Tuesday of interest to this borough will be that of Miss Florence Lurray Overton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Overton, and Albert Ell Crane. It will take place in the Church of the Holy Cross, Plainfield, N. J. The Overtons formerly lived in Brooklyn, and the bride is a graduate of Packer. She is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Lascelles Maxwell, of Rye.

Dr. and Mrs. John F. Fitzgerald, of 451 Clarkson av., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Geraldine Armstrong Fitzgerald, to Edward Huntington Etheridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin A. Etheridge, of Rome, N. Y.

Many Brooklyn society people attended the wedding of Miss Ellen Isabel Lane, daughter of Nathan Lane, of 69 South Oxford st., and Stuart Kelsey Knox, son of Judge and Mrs. David Knox, of Ann Arbor, Mich., at Wrentham, Mass., Monday noon. The ceremony was performed in Trinity Church by the Rev. Guy Wilbur Miner. The wedding breakfast was given at the Mansfield Tavern. Daisies and greenery were used in the decorations.

The bride was dressed in white marquisette and fillet lace, and carried lilies-of-the-valley. Miss Juliet Douglas Clark, maid of honor, wore a gown of yellow satin and a leghorn hat, and carried daisies. The bride was also attended by a little flower girl and page, Julia Kelsey and Nathan Lane, the niece and nephew of the bridegroom.

The wedding of Miss Christine Harlow Flieger and Delmar Gerle Roos took place at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Calder, 61 1st st., Thursday evening. The Rev. Emil Sherwood Harper officiated.

White satin and princess lace were combined in Miss Flieger's gown, and she carried bride roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Miss Elsie Calder, her cousin's maid of honor, was dressed in white lace and pale green chiffon taffeta. Miss Magdalene Harlow and Miss Daisy Taylor, bridesmaids, wore white lace and yellow taffeta. Geoffrey Candee May was the best man, and the ushers were Robert S. Flieger, Oswald Rothmarer, Prescott Mayland and Waldo Lawrence Kraemer. The bridal party also included three little flower girls, the Misses Ruth Harlow and Janet and Helen Baxter.

The bride is the daughter of Samuel Bruyn Flieger, of Poughkeepsie.

Miss Florence Taylor Lyman, of 231 Park Place, was married to Augustus Russell Southworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus G. Southworth, formerly of this borough, Wednesday, at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Gilbert W. Taylor, in Glen Ridge, N. J. The Rev. Dr. Walter De Forest Johnson, rector of Christ Church, Clinton st., officiated.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of white satin and old rose point lace and carried bride roses and lilies-of-the-valley. She was attended by a maid of honor, Miss Corinne Thompson, dressed in pink crepe de chine; two bridesmaids, Miss Marion Lyman and Miss Mildred Taylor, in white crepe de chine; and two flower girls, the Misses Alice May Lyman and Mildred Taylor.

The best man was George Arbogast, and the ushers Theodore Southworth, Harvey Lyman and Arthur Taylor.

A group of last winter's debutantes, all members of Packer, 12, are to spend the coming week end at the Mamakating Inn, in the Shawangunk Mountains. In the party will be Miss Beatrice S. Kaley, Miss Theda Kenyon, Miss Dorothy Bernard, Miss Nathalie Droste, Miss Helen Halstead, Miss Allene Block, Miss Della Sprague Bowen, Miss Josephine Carpenter and Miss Dorothy Cragin.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Wise and the Misses Wise, of 878 Carroll st., are to spend the summer abroad. They expect to sail next Saturday by the Olympic.

Mrs. Robert H. Turle is spending June at Touro Park, Newport.

"PORCH TEAS" NOW WASHINGTON RULE

Society's Summer Exodus Leaves Capital Quiet—Wilson's Defer Departure.

Washington, June 12.—While Congress will probably remain in session until September, that creation of society known as the social season has closed. There is still and will be a social life as long as the Senate and House fly their flags, but nothing more strenuous than "porch teas" and "bridge" is attempted, and dinner Falls conference, and the Minister of Denmark has just taken Clover Cottage, at Bar Harbor, for the season. Mrs. Haven, the American wife of the Belgian Minister, and her little son have gone to Quakertown, Penn., in search of a summer home. The minister is still here. Mrs. Haven only having left today. It is likely they will go to some of the mountain resorts of Pennsylvania.

Justice and Mrs. Charles E. Hughes and their family will leave on Tuesday for New York to attend the marriage of their son, Charles E. Hughes, Jr., to Miss Marjory Bruce Stuart, at 12:30 o'clock, on Wednesday, June 17. The Chapel of Saint Saviour of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine will be the scene of the wedding, and Miss Helen Hughes, sister of the bridegroom and roommate and classmate of the bride, will be maid of honor. After the wedding Justice Hughes and Mrs. Hughes and the younger members of their family will return here to remain until the adjournment of the Supreme Court, after which—perhaps a week later—they will go to Lake Sunapee, where they have taken a cottage for the summer.

The Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston leave for Woods Hole tomorrow, the latter to remain all summer. The Secretary will return here almost immediately.

The Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall, Senator and Mrs. Martine, Senator and Mrs. Swann, Senator and Mrs. Kern, Senator and Mrs. Pomeroy and Senator and Mrs. Reed form parties for the dinner hour at the Capitol nearly every evening when there is a night session, and after dinner the wives of the statesmen meet in the gallery of the Senate or House and listen to the proceedings.

The departure of the President's family from the White House for their summer residence at Cornish, N. H., seems quite uncertain, and depends largely upon the weather. In any event, the President and Mrs. Wilson will spend their twenty-ninth wedding anniversary at the White House, which falls on Wednesday, June 24. In extreme simplicity of celebration the first ceremony which united them could not exceed that which will be held in the White House this year, though at that time, when a notice in "The Morning News" of Savannah, Ga., described the event no given name was announced for the bridegroom. He was referred to simply as "Mr. Wilson, son of the late Rev. J. R. Wilson, of Wilmington, N. C."

Quite in keeping with the present taste of Mrs. Wilson, there was no lengthy description of gown, bridal veil, shower bouquet and such things, and it is simply related that "Miss Ellie Lou (Ellen Louise) Axson" and Mr. Wilson were married in the presence of only relatives and a few intimate friends. Mr. Wilson had just accepted a chair at the Bryn Mawr College and it was there he took his bride to make their first home. The first wedding anniversary which the President and Mrs. Wilson spent in the White House was last year, and it in no way differed from any other day spent there except they occupied a box at the Columbia Theatre following the family dinner, and had with them their three daughters and Mrs. Philip Hutchins, who was a White House guest.

While a number of the diplomats more directly concerned in the affairs between Mexico and this country will remain here without definite plans for the summer, the circle will be a small one. The French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand will remain until they leave for France, about July 1, but the German Ambassador, who also intends to sail a little later in the season, will leave the embassy permanently early next week. Haniel von Halmhausen, who has taken a cottage at Newport, will also go there early next week.

Unless the plans of the Spanish Ambassador and Señora de Riano miscarry, they will in another twenty-four hours be on their way to Newport, where they have a cottage for the season. The Minister of Argentina, Dr. Naon, who now ranks as an ambassador, settled his delightful wife, Mme. Naon, and their family at Buena Vista, before going to the Niagara parties are but the meeting of a half dozen congenial souls.

These dinner parties, by the way, have taken on a comfortable form, and the invitation when extended within the Congressional set is: "Come up and dine at the Senate restaurant or the House restaurant to-night." Mrs. Champ Clark dines at home, but she and the Speaker entertain various luncheon parties each week in the Speaker's private dining room at the Capitol.

The Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston leave for Woods Hole tomorrow, the latter to remain all summer. The Secretary will return here almost immediately.

The Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall, Senator and Mrs. Martine, Senator and Mrs. Swann, Senator and Mrs. Kern, Senator and Mrs. Pomeroy and Senator and Mrs. Reed form parties for the dinner hour at the Capitol nearly every evening when there is a night session, and after dinner the wives of the statesmen meet in the gallery of the Senate or House and listen to the proceedings.

The departure of the President's family from the White House for their summer residence at Cornish, N. H., seems quite uncertain, and depends largely upon the weather. In any event, the President and Mrs. Wilson will spend their twenty-ninth wedding anniversary at the White House, which falls on Wednesday, June 24. In extreme simplicity of celebration the first ceremony which united them could not exceed that which will be held in the White House this year, though at that time, when a notice in "The Morning News" of Savannah, Ga., described the event no given name was announced for the bridegroom. He was referred to simply as "Mr. Wilson, son of the late Rev. J. R. Wilson, of Wilmington, N. C."

Quite in keeping with the present taste of Mrs. Wilson, there was no lengthy description of gown, bridal veil, shower bouquet and such things, and it is simply related that "Miss Ellie Lou (Ellen Louise) Axson" and Mr. Wilson were married in the presence of only relatives and a few intimate friends. Mr. Wilson had just accepted a chair at the Bryn Mawr College and it was there he took his bride to make their first home. The first wedding anniversary which the President and Mrs. Wilson spent in the White House was last year, and it in no way differed from any other day spent there except they occupied a box at the Columbia Theatre following the family dinner, and had with them their three daughters and Mrs. Philip Hutchins, who was a White House guest.

While a number of the diplomats more directly concerned in the affairs between Mexico and this country will remain here without definite plans for the summer, the circle will be a small one. The French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand will remain until they leave for France, about July 1, but the German Ambassador, who also intends to sail a little later in the season, will leave the embassy permanently early next week. Haniel von Halmhausen, who has taken a cottage at Newport, will also go there early next week.

Unless the plans of the Spanish Ambassador and Señora de Riano miscarry, they will in another twenty-four hours be on their way to Newport, where they have a cottage for the season. The Minister of Argentina, Dr. Naon, who now ranks as an ambassador, settled his delightful wife, Mme. Naon, and their family at Buena Vista, before going to the Niagara parties are but the meeting of a half dozen congenial souls.

These dinner parties, by the way, have taken on a comfortable form, and the invitation when extended within the Congressional set is: "Come up and dine at the Senate restaurant or the House restaurant to-night." Mrs. Champ Clark dines at home, but she and the Speaker entertain various luncheon parties each week in the Speaker's private dining room at the Capitol.

The Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston leave for Woods Hole tomorrow, the latter to remain all summer. The Secretary will return here almost immediately.

The Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall, Senator and Mrs. Martine, Senator and Mrs. Swann, Senator and Mrs. Kern, Senator and Mrs. Pomeroy and Senator and Mrs. Reed form parties for the dinner hour at the Capitol nearly every evening when there is a night session, and after dinner the wives of the statesmen meet in the gallery of the Senate or House and listen to the proceedings.

The departure of the President's family from the White House for their summer residence at Cornish, N. H., seems quite uncertain, and depends largely upon the weather. In any event, the President and Mrs. Wilson will spend their twenty-ninth wedding anniversary at the White House, which falls on Wednesday, June 24. In extreme simplicity of celebration the first ceremony which united them could not exceed that which will be held in the White House this year, though at that time, when a notice in "The Morning News" of Savannah, Ga., described the event no given name was announced for the bridegroom. He was referred to simply as "Mr. Wilson, son of the late Rev. J. R. Wilson, of Wilmington, N. C."

Quite in keeping with the present taste of Mrs. Wilson, there was no lengthy description of gown, bridal veil, shower bouquet and such things, and it is simply related that "Miss Ellie Lou (Ellen Louise) Axson" and Mr. Wilson were married in the presence of only relatives and a few intimate friends. Mr. Wilson had just accepted a chair at the Bryn Mawr College and it was there he took his bride to make their first home. The first wedding anniversary which the President and Mrs. Wilson spent in the White House was last year, and it in no way differed from any other day spent there except they occupied a box at the Columbia Theatre following the family dinner, and had with them their three daughters and Mrs. Philip Hutchins, who was a White House guest.

While a number of the diplomats more directly concerned in the affairs between Mexico and this country will remain here without definite plans for the summer, the circle will be a small one. The French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand will remain until they leave for France, about July 1, but the German Ambassador, who also intends to sail a little later in the season, will leave the embassy permanently early next week. Haniel von Halmhausen, who has taken a cottage at Newport, will also go there early next week.

Unless the plans of the Spanish Ambassador and Señora de Riano miscarry, they will in another twenty-four hours be on their way to Newport, where they have a cottage for the season. The Minister of Argentina, Dr. Naon, who now ranks as an ambassador, settled his delightful wife, Mme. Naon, and their family at Buena Vista, before going to the Niagara parties are but the meeting of a half dozen congenial souls.

These dinner parties, by the way, have taken on a comfortable form, and the invitation when extended within the Congressional set is: "Come up and dine at the Senate restaurant or the House restaurant to-night." Mrs. Champ Clark dines at home, but she and the Speaker entertain various luncheon parties each week in the Speaker's private dining room at the Capitol.

The Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston leave for Woods Hole tomorrow, the latter to remain all summer. The Secretary will return here almost immediately.

The Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall, Senator and Mrs. Martine, Senator and Mrs. Swann, Senator and Mrs. Kern, Senator and Mrs. Pomeroy and Senator and Mrs. Reed form parties for the dinner hour at the Capitol nearly every evening when there is a night session, and after dinner the wives of the statesmen meet in the gallery of the Senate or House and listen to the proceedings.

The departure of the President's family from the White House for their summer residence at Cornish, N. H., seems quite uncertain, and depends largely upon the weather. In any event, the President and Mrs. Wilson will spend their twenty-ninth wedding anniversary at the White House, which falls on Wednesday, June 24. In extreme simplicity of celebration the first ceremony which united them could not exceed that which will be held in the White House this year, though at that time, when a notice in "The Morning News" of Savannah, Ga., described the event no given name was announced for the bridegroom. He was referred to simply as "Mr. Wilson, son of the late Rev. J. R. Wilson, of Wilmington, N. C."

Quite in keeping with the present taste of Mrs. Wilson, there was no lengthy description of gown, bridal veil, shower bouquet and such things, and it is simply related that "Miss Ellie Lou (Ellen Louise) Axson" and Mr. Wilson were married in the presence of only relatives and a few intimate friends. Mr. Wilson had just accepted a chair at the Bryn Mawr College and it was there he took his bride to make their first home. The first wedding anniversary which the President and Mrs. Wilson spent in the White House was last year, and it in no way differed from any other day spent there except they occupied a box at the Columbia Theatre following the family dinner, and had with them their three daughters and Mrs. Philip Hutchins, who was a White House guest.

While a number of the diplomats more directly concerned in the affairs between Mexico and this country will remain here without definite plans for the summer, the circle will be a small one. The French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand will remain until they leave for France, about July 1, but the German Ambassador, who also intends to sail a little later in the season, will leave the embassy permanently early next week. Haniel von Halmhausen, who has taken a cottage at Newport, will also go there early next week.

Unless the plans of the Spanish Ambassador and Señora de Riano miscarry, they will in another twenty-four hours be on their way to Newport, where they have a cottage for the season. The Minister of Argentina, Dr. Naon, who now ranks as an ambassador, settled his delightful wife, Mme. Naon, and their family at Buena Vista, before going to the Niagara parties are but the meeting of a half dozen congenial souls.

These dinner parties, by the way, have taken on a comfortable form, and the invitation when extended within the Congressional set is: "Come up and dine at the Senate restaurant or the House restaurant to-night." Mrs. Champ Clark dines at home, but she and the Speaker entertain various luncheon parties each week in the Speaker's private dining room at the Capitol.

The Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston leave for Woods Hole tomorrow, the latter to remain all summer. The Secretary will return here almost immediately.

The Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall, Senator and Mrs. Martine, Senator and Mrs. Swann, Senator and Mrs. Kern, Senator and Mrs. Pomeroy and Senator and Mrs. Reed form parties for the dinner hour at the Capitol nearly every evening when there is a night session, and after dinner the wives of the statesmen meet in the gallery of the Senate or House and listen to the proceedings.

The departure of the President's family from the White House for their summer residence at Cornish, N. H., seems quite uncertain, and depends largely upon the weather. In any event, the President and Mrs. Wilson will spend their twenty-ninth wedding anniversary at the White House, which falls on Wednesday, June 24. In extreme simplicity of celebration the first ceremony which united them could not exceed that which will be held in the White House this year, though at that time, when a notice in "The Morning News" of Savannah, Ga., described the event no given name was announced for the bridegroom. He was referred to simply as "Mr. Wilson, son of the late Rev. J. R. Wilson, of Wilmington, N. C."

Quite in keeping with the present taste of Mrs. Wilson, there was no lengthy description of gown, bridal veil, shower bouquet and such things, and it is simply related that "Miss Ellie Lou (Ellen Louise) Axson" and Mr. Wilson were married in the presence of only relatives and a few intimate friends. Mr. Wilson had just accepted a chair at the Bryn Mawr College and it was there he took his bride to make their first home. The first wedding anniversary which the President and Mrs. Wilson spent in the White House was last year, and it in no way differed from any other day spent there except they occupied a box at the Columbia Theatre following the family dinner, and had with them their three daughters and Mrs. Philip Hutchins, who was a White House guest.

While a number of the diplomats more directly concerned in the affairs between Mexico and this country will remain here without definite plans for the summer, the circle will be a small one. The French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand will remain until they leave for France, about July 1, but the German Ambassador, who also intends to sail a little later in the season, will leave the embassy permanently early next week. Haniel von Halmhausen, who has taken a cottage at Newport, will also go there early next week.

Unless the plans of the Spanish Ambassador and Señora de Riano miscarry, they will in another twenty-four hours be on their way to Newport, where they have a cottage for the season. The Minister of Argentina, Dr. Naon, who now ranks as an ambassador, settled his delightful wife, Mme. Naon, and their family at Buena Vista, before going to the Niagara parties are but the meeting of a half dozen congenial souls.

These dinner parties, by the way, have taken on a comfortable form, and the invitation when extended within the Congressional set is: "Come up and dine at the Senate restaurant or the House restaurant to-night." Mrs. Champ Clark dines at home, but she and the Speaker entertain various luncheon parties each week in the Speaker's private dining room at the Capitol.

The Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston leave for Woods Hole tomorrow, the latter to remain all summer. The Secretary will return here almost immediately.

The Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall, Senator and Mrs. Martine, Senator and Mrs. Swann, Senator and Mrs. Kern, Senator and Mrs. Pomeroy and Senator and Mrs. Reed form parties for the dinner hour at the Capitol nearly every evening when there is a night session, and after dinner the wives of the statesmen meet in the gallery of the Senate or House and listen to the proceedings.

The departure of the President's family from the White House for their summer residence at Cornish, N. H., seems quite uncertain, and depends largely upon the weather. In any event, the President and Mrs. Wilson will spend their twenty-ninth wedding anniversary at the White House, which falls on Wednesday, June 24. In extreme simplicity of celebration the first ceremony which united them could not exceed that which will be held in the White House this year, though at that time, when a notice in "The Morning News" of Savannah, Ga., described the event no given name was announced for the bridegroom. He was referred to simply as "Mr. Wilson, son of the late Rev. J. R. Wilson, of Wilmington, N. C."

Quite in keeping with the present taste of Mrs. Wilson, there was no lengthy description of gown, bridal veil, shower bouquet and such things, and it is simply related that "Miss Ellie Lou (Ellen Louise) Axson" and Mr. Wilson were married in the presence of only relatives and a few intimate friends. Mr. Wilson had just accepted a chair at the Bryn Mawr College and it was there he took his bride to make their first home. The first wedding anniversary which the President and Mrs. Wilson spent in the White House was last year, and it in no way differed from any other day spent there except they occupied a box at the Columbia Theatre following the family dinner, and had with them their three daughters and Mrs. Philip Hutchins, who was a White House guest.

While a number of the diplomats more directly concerned in the affairs between Mexico and this country will remain here without definite plans for the summer, the circle will be a small one. The French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand will remain until they leave for France, about July 1, but the German Ambassador, who also intends to sail a little later in the season, will leave the embassy permanently early next week. Haniel von Halmhausen, who has taken a cottage at Newport, will also go there early next week.

Unless the plans of the Spanish Ambassador and Señora de Riano miscarry, they will in another twenty-four hours be on their way to Newport, where they have a cottage for the season. The Minister of Argentina, Dr. Naon, who now ranks as an ambassador, settled his delightful wife, Mme. Naon, and their family at Buena Vista, before going to the Niagara parties are but the meeting of a half dozen congenial souls.

These dinner parties, by the way, have taken on a comfortable form, and the invitation when extended within the Congressional set is: "Come up and dine at the Senate restaurant or the House restaurant to-night." Mrs. Champ Clark dines at home, but she and the Speaker entertain various luncheon parties each week in the Speaker's private dining room at the Capitol.

The Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston leave for Woods Hole tomorrow, the latter to remain all summer. The Secretary will return here almost immediately.

The Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall, Senator and Mrs. Martine, Senator and Mrs. Swann, Senator and Mrs. Kern, Senator and Mrs. Pomeroy and Senator and Mrs. Reed form parties for the dinner hour at the Capitol nearly every evening when there is a night session, and after dinner the wives of the statesmen meet in the gallery of the Senate or House and listen to the proceedings.

The departure of the President's family from the White House for their summer residence at Cornish, N. H., seems quite uncertain, and depends largely upon the weather. In any event, the President and Mrs. Wilson will spend their twenty-ninth wedding anniversary at the White House, which falls on Wednesday, June 24. In extreme simplicity of celebration the first ceremony which united them could not exceed that which will be held in the White House this year, though at that time, when a notice in "The Morning News" of Savannah, Ga., described the event no given name was announced for the bridegroom. He was referred to simply as "Mr. Wilson, son of the late Rev. J. R. Wilson, of Wilmington, N. C."

Quite in keeping with the present taste of Mrs. Wilson, there was no lengthy description of gown, bridal veil, shower bouquet and such things, and it is simply related that "Miss Ellie Lou (Ellen Louise) Axson" and Mr. Wilson were married in the presence of only relatives and a few intimate friends. Mr. Wilson had just accepted a chair at the Bryn Mawr College and it was there he took his bride to make their first home. The first wedding anniversary which the President and Mrs. Wilson spent in the White House was last year, and it in no way differed from any other day spent there except they occupied a box at the Columbia Theatre following the family dinner, and had with them their three daughters and Mrs. Philip Hutchins, who was a White House guest.

While a number of the diplomats more directly concerned in the affairs between Mexico and this country will remain here without definite plans for the summer, the circle will be a small one. The French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand will remain until they leave for France, about July 1, but the German Ambassador, who also intends to sail a little later in the season, will leave the embassy permanently early next week. Haniel von Halmhausen, who has taken a cottage at Newport, will also go there early next week.

Unless the plans of the Spanish Ambassador and Señora de Riano miscarry, they will in another twenty-four hours be on their way to Newport, where they have a cottage for the season. The Minister of Argentina, Dr. Naon, who now ranks as an ambassador, settled his delightful wife, Mme. Naon, and their family at Buena Vista, before going to the Niagara parties are but the meeting of a half dozen congenial souls.

These dinner parties, by the way, have taken on a comfortable form, and the invitation when extended within the Congressional set is: "Come up and dine at the Senate restaurant or the House restaurant to-night." Mrs. Champ Clark dines at home, but she and the Speaker entertain various luncheon parties each week in the Speaker's private dining room at the Capitol.

The Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston leave for Woods Hole tomorrow, the latter to remain all summer. The Secretary will return here almost immediately.

The Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall, Senator and Mrs. Martine, Senator and Mrs. Swann, Senator and Mrs. Kern, Senator and Mrs. Pomeroy and Senator and Mrs. Reed form parties for the dinner hour at the Capitol nearly every evening when there is a night session, and after dinner the wives of the statesmen meet in the gallery of the Senate or House and listen to the proceedings.

The departure of the President's family from the White House for their summer residence at Cornish, N. H., seems quite uncertain, and depends largely upon the weather. In any event, the President and Mrs. Wilson will spend their twenty-ninth wedding anniversary at the White House, which falls on Wednesday, June 24. In extreme simplicity of celebration the first ceremony which united them could not exceed that which will be held in the White House this year, though at that time, when a notice in "The Morning News" of Savannah, Ga., described the event no given name was announced for the bridegroom. He was referred to simply as "Mr. Wilson, son of the late Rev. J. R. Wilson, of Wilmington, N. C."

Quite in keeping with the present taste of Mrs. Wilson, there was no lengthy description of gown, bridal veil, shower bouquet and such things, and it is simply related that "Miss Ellie Lou (Ellen Louise) Axson" and Mr. Wilson were married in the presence of only relatives and a few intimate friends. Mr. Wilson had just accepted a chair at the Bryn Mawr College and it was there he took his bride to make their first home. The first wedding anniversary which the President and Mrs. Wilson spent in the White House was last year, and it in no way differed from any other day spent there except they occupied a box at the Columbia Theatre following the family dinner, and had with them their three daughters and Mrs. Philip Hutchins, who was a White House guest.

While a number of the diplomats more directly concerned in the affairs between Mexico and this country will remain here without definite plans for the summer, the circle will be a small one. The French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand will remain until they leave for France, about July 1, but the German Ambassador, who also intends to sail a little later in the season, will leave the embassy permanently early next week. Haniel von Halmhausen, who has taken a cottage at Newport, will also go there early next week.

Unless the plans of the Spanish Ambassador and Señora de Riano miscarry, they will in another twenty-four hours be on their way to Newport, where they have a cottage for the season. The Minister of Argentina, Dr. Naon, who now ranks as an ambassador, settled his delightful wife, Mme. Naon, and their family at Buena Vista, before going to the Niagara parties are but the meeting of a half dozen congenial souls.

These dinner parties, by the way, have taken on a comfortable form, and the invitation when extended within the Congressional set is: "Come up and dine at the Senate restaurant or the House restaurant to-night." Mrs. Champ Clark dines at home, but she and the Speaker entertain various luncheon parties each week in the Speaker's private dining room at the Capitol.

The Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston leave for Woods Hole tomorrow, the latter to remain all summer. The Secretary will return here almost immediately.

The Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall, Senator and Mrs. Martine, Senator and Mrs. Swann, Senator and Mrs. Kern, Senator and Mrs. Pomeroy and Senator and Mrs. Reed form parties for the dinner hour at the Capitol nearly every evening when there is a night session, and after dinner the wives of the statesmen meet in the gallery of the Senate or House and listen to the proceedings.

The departure of the President's family from the White House for their summer residence at Cornish, N. H., seems quite uncertain, and depends largely upon the weather. In any event, the President and Mrs. Wilson will spend their twenty-ninth wedding anniversary at the White House, which falls on Wednesday, June 24. In extreme simplicity of celebration the first ceremony which united them could not exceed that which will be held in the White House this year, though at that time, when a notice in "The Morning News" of Savannah, Ga., described the event no given name was announced for the bridegroom. He was referred to simply as "Mr. Wilson, son of the late Rev. J. R. Wilson, of Wilmington, N. C."

Quite in keeping with the present taste of Mrs. Wilson, there was no lengthy description of gown, bridal veil, shower bouquet and such things, and it is simply related that "Miss Ellie Lou (Ellen Louise) Axson" and Mr. Wilson were married in the presence of only relatives and a few intimate friends. Mr. Wilson had just accepted a chair at the Bryn Mawr College and it was there he took his bride to make their first home. The first wedding anniversary which the President and Mrs. Wilson spent in the White House was last year, and it in no way differed from any other day spent there except they occupied a box at the Columbia Theatre following the family dinner, and had with them their three daughters and Mrs. Philip Hutchins, who was a White House guest.

While a number of the diplomats more directly concerned in the affairs between Mexico and this country will remain here without definite plans for the summer, the circle will be a small one. The French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand will remain until they leave for France, about July 1, but the German Ambassador, who also intends to sail a little later in the season, will leave the embassy permanently early next week. Haniel von Halmhausen, who has taken a cottage at Newport, will also go there early next week.

Unless the plans of the Spanish Ambassador and Señora de Riano miscarry, they will in another twenty-four hours be on their way to Newport, where they have a cottage for the season. The Minister of Argentina, Dr. Naon, who now ranks as an ambassador, settled his delightful wife, Mme. Naon, and their family at Buena Vista, before going to the Niagara parties are but the meeting of a half dozen congenial souls.

These dinner parties, by the way, have taken on a comfortable form, and the invitation when extended within the Congressional set is: "Come up and dine at the Senate restaurant or the House restaurant to-night." Mrs. Champ Clark dines at home, but she and the Speaker entertain various luncheon parties each week in the Speaker's private dining room at the Capitol.

The Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston leave for Woods Hole tomorrow, the latter to remain all summer. The Secretary will return here almost immediately.

The Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall, Senator and Mrs. Martine, Senator and Mrs. Swann, Senator and Mrs. Kern, Senator and Mrs. Pomeroy and Senator and Mrs. Reed form parties for the dinner hour at the Capitol nearly every evening when there is a night session, and after dinner the wives of the statesmen meet in the gallery of the Senate or House and listen to the proceedings.

The departure of the President's family from the White House for their summer residence at Cornish, N. H., seems quite uncertain, and depends largely upon the weather. In any event, the President and Mrs. Wilson will spend their twenty-ninth wedding anniversary at the White House, which falls on Wednesday, June 24. In extreme simplicity of celebration the first ceremony which united them could not exceed that which will be held in the White House this year, though at that time, when a notice in "The Morning News" of Savannah, Ga., described the event no given name was announced for the bridegroom. He was referred to simply as "Mr. Wilson, son of the late Rev. J. R. Wilson, of Wilmington, N. C."